Hi Beth,

My name is Frank Vollmer. I am a Corporate Program Manager for George Mason University Executive and Professional Education. I was given your name by Rich Finelli.

George Mason University, through their robust roster of industry leaders and current practitioners, have used their Facility Management professional development training programs to successfully guide the FM leadership skills of individuals and organizations for over 15 years.

The reason for my reach-out is to find a convenient time to meet with you to discuss the series of up-to-date and relevant facility management programs that we provide through our office. One program that I'm sure you are already familiar with is our Facility Manager's Certificate program – a program that aligns with the core competencies of IFMA's Certified Facility Manager (CFM) examination and provides a foundation which addresses the core competencies of the Federal Building Personnel Training Act (FBPTA). We are also in the stages of building a Work Place Strategist Executive Education program and would enjoy hearing your views on this role in the industry.

Please let me know some dates that are convenient for you to meet with us. I look forward to meeting you in person in the very near future!

Sincerely,

Frank
